"ROOSEVELT PARK."

South Main Street Boulevard to be Very Much Improved.

The ordinance passed late yesterday afternoon by the county board, and changing the name of the South Main street boulevard to "Roosevelt Park," provides for the setting apart of eight feet on each side of the street for sidewalk, the pavement to be not less than five nor more than eight feet in width. For parking purposes 201/2 feet is set apart, while there will be 75 feet by the center for a driveway, from which it is proposed to exclude all heavy ve hicles. There is also a reservation of 1½ feet for telephone and electric light poles, so that these will in wise interfere with driving on that thoroughfare. The parking may be done by abutting property owners or others if they see fit; if not, then it will probably have to be done by the county. With electric lights and an abundance of water to keep the driveway in good condition, citizens will have a boulevard of which they may well be proud and which they will doubtless take full advantage of. The story in the morning papers to the effect that the commissioners had offered $100 for the best plan for laying out and beautifying the proposed park, and published elsewhere in this issue, is not correct, as the board has taken no action in this direction.

WILL WED MISS BAER.

A. J. Gemmill Licensed to Marry the Girl He Wronged.

Genmill, with Dr. A. Johnson, a dentist, stands charged with committing a criminal operation upon the person of Miss Baer. Both men are bound over to he district court, and are cited to appear for arraignment before Judge Lewis tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, Whether or not the case against Dr. Johnson will be dismissed remains to he seen, but as a wife cannot testify against her husband, there is no quesion but that the case against Gemmill will have to be dismissed as the girl who is about to become his wife was the principal witness for the state at the preliminary hearing.

The base stands on a groundwork of green sawdust en-closed by a neat fence. Circling this structure and diving through tunnels made in the four feet of the tower is a mineature electric railroad with side tracks and depots at stated intervals. This bears the sign "San Pedro Road," and is engaged in a five-minute service between Salt Lake and Los Angeles transporting Hewlett's goods. This novel scheme was planned by Messrs. DIXIE TO THE FRONT.

A State Fair without The Dixle Exnibit under the supervision of Hon, Thomas Judd of St. George would be like eating beef without mustard. Mr. Judd is there in the main building with his raisins, almonds, nuts, dried peaches, figs, pomegranates and 15 varicties of the most fuscious looking grapes imaginable, among them being the famous Thompson's Seedless. The aggregation of fruit is very good and is Hlustrative of what Dixie will be ending Salt Lake in carload lots when the San Pedro road is in thorough running order, Accompanying the Dixie exhibit in the center of the building is that of J P. Paulson, who has a neat array of up-to-date show cases; Hyrum Woolen Mills, with a variegated assortment of home-made yarns; Ashton Fire Brick company with an interesting assortment of products of the kiln; Faust Creamery & Supply company, cheese, butter, dairy products and machinery; Utah Fire Clay Co., retorts, fire brick and kindred products; Fred Herdlisky Co., manufacturers of Mexicar hand-carved leather work, belts, chat-

FLORAL EXHIBIT.

Among the florists the artistic effect in the center of the building where cluster the palms and potted plants bears the sign of R. E. Evans. This feature is one that has been missed for he past two years and will be omed by those who love the beautiful in flowers and foliage.

The other pretentious representa-tions are those of the National Biscuit eompany, which in a huge pyramid of crackers tells the public that They need a biscuit, to say nothing of the fancy confections; Cache Valley Conensed Milk & Creamery company and John Bach, who in addition to honey wax and bee products has three queer bees and as many swarms enclosed glasses for the edification of the popu-

A small but attractive feature in the building is a model of a full rigged ship under full sail which was made by H. E. Johnson of this city.

With the exception of a few finishing touches the main building was prac tically all ready for inspection at an early hour this afternoon, a circum-stance which should in itself mark a red-letter day in the history of the fair.

LIVESTOCK DISPLAY. Fine Array of Sheep, Hogs, Horses and Cattle.

The live stock exhibitors ought to have all of their stock on the grounds by this evening, or tomorrow morning. The long open stock shed to the west of the big diving tank, is now pretty well occupied. The Excelsior stock farm of J. R. Ailen & Bro. of Draper, is well represented here with 60 head of Cottswold sheep in 10 pens, the largest exhibit the firm has ever made at the state fairs, and is half as large again as that of last year. Four of the sheep weigh 350 pounds each, and the weight of wool makes them pant. J. H. Seely of Mt. Pleasant exhibits 35 sheep in six pens. They are of the Ramboullet breed, and are fine looking animals. Mr. Seeley has 29 head on exhibition at Louis where his son is in charge. Mr. Seeley's herds include both import ed and domestic animals, the St. Louis exhibit being all domestic animals. He displays over his sheep here a large sheet covered with premium badges can by sheep now owned by him at diferent state fairs over the west. Draper live Stock company has 17 head of Cottswold sheep in four pens, a number of the animals weighing 300 pounds nd over. A couple of Salt Lake boys have three goals on exhibition that are quite attractive. More sheep are expected by tomorrow.

THE SWINE EXHIBIT

is of an excellent quality, though made by few growers. However, it is enough that Utah is a good place aise this kind of animal and ought to courage an extension of hog raising the markets as well as for breeding purposes. A very unique display for this part of the country is that of four red Tamworths of the bacon type, by J. I., Mitchell of Coalville. This is one of the best of English breeds, common edough in Canada, and some other parts of the east, but not in the far west. Mr. Mitchell expects to make the breed more familiar in Utah. D. O. Rideout of Draper ex-hibits 51 head of Berkshire hogs in nine pens which make an excellent showing. The largest animal is a great boar weighing 700 pounds at three years of age. Mr. Rideout says that all of age. Mr. Rideout says that all of these hogs are either registered or can be, and the choicest are from the famous McCutcheon farm at Holstein, Iowa. This breed of hogs he keeps for breeding, and not for pork. A special feature of the swine exhibit is the files which swarm there by milions and mil-Many a porker lies covered with flies as with a garment, and the noise made by the insects is like the roar of the distant sea. is the best yet made, and aside from the racing stock must number 150 ani-mals or over. Among the more notice-able displays in the equine line may be noticed, five French draft horses, the heaviest weighing a ton; and in general it may be said that all of the draft horses exhibited by the various exhibitors are magnificent looking animals. There are none of them that need take iny backwater from eastern owned animals. Colonel John R. Winder is always an enthusiastic and intelligent ways an enthusiastic and intelligent exhibitor. Among the horses are two fine black Shetlands, and in this line, George M. Cannon displays a black and a dapple gray Shetland ponies of marked excellence: and Miss Marle Cushing has two bay Shetlands. T. H. & R. H. Smith of Logan display eight head of horses, including two full blood ed Percheron stallions, and three full blooded Percheron mares, two grade draft mares and a sucking colt. George Hilliard of Smithfield, Cache coun-ty, displays four head, two Percheron stallions and two grade draft mares. James Dansie of Riverton has four head, one being a prize winning Shire stallion raised in Utah by John Bond, two grade mares and a yearling colt. S. J. Parish of Centerville ex-hibits draft mares and a stallion of high breed and fine looking. The other animals exhibited in this division are able notice of any eastern stock faner. The accommodations at the neds are an improvement over last seeds are an improvement over last year, and everything is in shipshape order. The sheds are a busy spot, with attendants looking after stock and spectators inspecting their contents.

J. H. Seeley of Mt. Pleasant has 25 head of Short Horns, cows, helfers and bulls, the largest animal, a bull weighng 2,360 pounds, and which has been a prize winner. It won the cup at the National Live Stock convention held in this city a few years ago. The Excelsion Stock Farm company of Draper has 22 head of Short Horns, prize takers, including "junior champion" helfer. Allison Bros. of Layton dis-play 12 head of Short Horns that are fine looking stock; and John White, the veteran stockman, has seven head of fine young Short Horns. Joseph Barker of Ogden displays 16 head of very choice Jerseys. One of them, "Diploma's Dina," has a butter record of 18 pounds and 9 ozs. in one week, Another, "Diploma's Priscilla," has a butter record of 18 pounds and 14 czs.
"Priscilla's Pride" was a prize winner last year in the heifer class. A bull, "Combination's Deseret," won the sweepstakes and was in the first class last year. "Diploma's Maxim" is a bull of the same blood as "Brown Bessie," now exhibiting at the St. Louis fair, and other animals are from her Col. John R. Winder exhibits nine Jerseys that are unusually fine looking animals, and will attract commendatory attention anywhere. George M. Cannon exhibits "Diploma's Golden Lad," a very fine Jersey from his Forest Dale farm, and John Hall of Salt Lake county shows his Jersey bull, "Dickery Dock." There will be additions to the cattle display by tomor The men employed in earing for these animals are spending much time in making them look attractive, and the stock appear to appreciate the attentions shown them

ART DEPARTMENT.

Work of Arranging Creditable Exhibit is on in Earnest.

The arrangement of the art department is going on merrily under the supervision of H. L. A. Culmer, Lee Greene Richards, Mrs. W. W. Riter and Miss Kate Wells. The display comprises a number of pictures by the home artists Harwood, Culmer, Lee Greene Richards, Lewis A. Ramsey, Mrs. M. E. R. Richards and others, and contains some fine pieces by all. Miss Kate Wells and Miss Clare Hackney are the only competitors in the colored photo-graph department, and each have some dainty work in evidence. The art china department has a notable representation, and will be enjoyed by connais-seurs in this delicate work. Some of the paintings noted were the pertrait of Dr. Richards, by L. G. Richards, which wen a place in the Paris salon during the artist's stay abroad, together with a forest scene by the same artist; two pictures by H. A. Culmer entitled respectively "A Wild California Coast," and "Lake Tahoe," A charming local bit by Lewis A. Ramsey, showing a sunset glimpse of a tree-ined path with the spires of the Temple in the background.

Harwood's beautiful "Autumn Scene" is there, and a charming child-picture by the same artist, which will claim unstinted admiration, Mrs. M. R. Richards has a number of flower pieces and besides these are many others which cannot be mentioned in one space, but which make the display a truly enjoyable one.

The Battenberg display is especially fine, the most claborate piece being a lady's wrap done in ecru Battenburg. Besides this are a score of samples which put one in mind of the daintiest foams and cobwebs and would grace the home of an empress. Embroideries are there in profusion, and the work is exquistely done. One piece is a complete suit in black cloth elaborately embroidered. The largest display of sofa cushions is there that has yet been seen, and there is an exhibition of ladies and infants' lingerie done by hand that has never been surpassed. Quilts, bedspreads, rag carpets in color and design that make one yearn for the return of the old home fashions are seen, and in close proximity, silk satin and lace bed finery in daintiest hand work lure the eye and taste to their rich loveliness. The ork of placing the many pieces is still progress, and when the department complete it will rival any at the

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES.

The fruit and vegetable displays in all carefully selected, and evidencing most careful culture. The Salt Lake county fruit display was collected from quite a variety of orchards under the supervision of J. P. Sorenson, and a better showing can not be made. The fruits are of all the standard kinds, and their excellent condition shows that intelligent care has been exercised in their cultivation, particularly in keep-ing off the worms and other insect pests that in the past have played such havoc with the fruit. The Salt Lake county exhibit would do credit to any fair in the country, no matter how pre-tentious. The show of apples prom-ises much for the future in this line. George S. Tall of Bluffdale has a very unique exhibit in a second crop very unique exhibit in a second crop of early harvest apples, the fact of which is certified to by a sworn affidavit. Public attention is specially called to this. The fruit is particularly praiseworthy in that it shows that creditable endeavors have been made this year to head off the worms. The late and wet spring aided in starting the killing off movement, and the exertions of the state and county horticultural societies materially assisted. The the result of the fruit exhibitions at the Irrigation congress incited local growers to be up and doing, so that the freedom of the fruit on exhibition at this year's state air from blemish is decidedly gratify-The fruit and vegetable display is well worth careful inspection. The peaches will equal anything Grand Junction can offer, and on a small pair of scales rest three peaches from the orchards of J. M. Fisher, Jr., of East Mill Creek, the three weighing 2 pounds, 10 ounces. Mr. Fisher exhibits 20 varieties of these peaches, 14 varieties of pears, 35 of grapes, 18 of plums, seven of prunes. He has Bartlet pears weighing 12 ounces each, and Rosney pears some of which weigh a pound each. The grapes include the Purple Damascus, and in general the dsiplay is as fine as might be expected in an eastern state fair. N. B.
